

Summer Learning for All

The 2024 Gallup Summer Experiences Survey of nearly 7,000 parents across the U.S. revealed that during Summer 2023:

30 Million Youth

(55%) out of 54 million K-12 students participated in an organized summer program experience.

10 million low income students (38%) out of 25 million participated in programs compared to 67% of higher income peers.

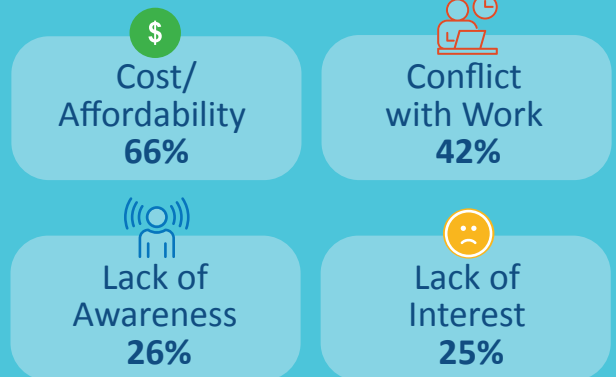

Summer programs make learning fun, build relationships and offer new and engaging enrichment opportunities.

Top Reasons Parents Enroll Youth in Programs

Barriers to Summer Programs Participation Include:

Providing high quality summer learning experiences to all students in the U.S. regardless of income, background and zip code is an important and solvable challenge.

To learn more, visit SummerLearning.org

To find programs and resources near you, visit DiscoverSummer.org

Survey sponsored by

